Re: Day's Excavating

To whom it may concern:

The City of Nogales has contracted with Day's Excavating for various paving rehabilitation projects for over two years and I have appreciated the professional nature in which they have performed their job. Their prices are competitive and they have always been quick to respond with occasional issues or concerns that have come up and they are responsive to our specific requirements when it comes to budget and scheduling.

Day's Excavating is a great company with professional employees who get the work done with excellent results and I feel their product and services are of the highest quality.
